FLOOD ADDS 5,000 TO JAPAN'S DEAD

WEST COAST SEAPORT DEVASTATED.—LOSS IS HEAVY

AMERICAN SURVIVORS ARRIVE AT HOME PORT

Horroring Experiences Recounted By Refugees From Scene of Holocaust. U. S. Contribution In Excess of $8,000 000.

London.—It is believed that 5,000 perished in the devastating floods sweeping the Tottori district in Japan according to a Central News dispatch from Tokyo. Torrential rains continue, aggravating the situation. Property loss is estimated at 30,000,000 yen. The Japanese government is hurriedly sending relief to the stricken district.

Tottori is a seaport off the Honshiu provience, on the west coast of Japan. Its population is given 37,000.

Seattle.—Safe home from Japan, the land of desolation and death, first American survivors to be returned from the stricken island arrived in Seattle aboard the steamer President Jefferson.

One hundred and fifty-five refugees were on the vessel. All were brought here, with the exception of a few English, who were landed at Victoria, B. C.

As the vessel was warped into position, there were gathered to meet it, a number of automobiles, driven by volunteers, army ambulances, Red Cross nurses and doctors, and, most anxious of all, little groups of friends and relatives, many of whom had come here from all parts of the United States to greet their loved ones.

A few of those seriously injured or ill were carried from the steamer and whisked away to hospitals. The remainder stayed on board, many of them sleeping, and the exodus of the main group of survivors did not commence until 10 a. m.

Stories of narrow escapes and tragic sights were many, as the refugees came down the dock, and were greeted by friends and relatives, weeping their joy at the meeting.

Washington.—More than $8,000,000 has been subscribed to the Red Cross drive for Japanese relief. Contributions at special church services throughout the land may bring the total close to twice the $5,000,000 mark originally fixed. President Coolidge issued a proclamation expressing appreciation of the prompt response to his appeal for aid made two weeks ago.

JAPANESE EMPRESS FEEDS AMBASSADOR AND FAMILY

Tokyo.—American Ambassador Cyrus E. Woods and family at one time during the days following the Japanese disaster found themselves with three soda crackers their only possessions. The ambassador, his wife and aged mother had narrowly escaped personal injury, but, forgetting their own plight, had turned immediately toward organizing relief and had forgotten to supply their own needs. Everything else in the way of food or personal possessions was destroyed or temporarily lost.

Just then, however, a personal messenger from the empress arrived with a basket of potatoes, three ducks, a basket of cabbage and two bottles of wine.

UNITED STATES' MERCHANT FLEET WORTH $226,000,000

Washington.—The United States merchant fleet to-day is worth $226,733,315, in the opinion of shipping board experts who have just completed an extensive survey. Taking world market conditions, the experts, after considering types, capacity, machinery, loading devices and like factors, placed the board's first valuation on the 1,334 craft making up the fleet.

Of the entire fleet, 416 ships are in operation or ready for spot delivery of a value of $137,311,940, while 282 laid up vessels are valued at $87,906,375 and thirty-six tugs are held at $1,515 000.

Harding Memorial Proposed

Washington.—A national memorial to President Harding, to be erected at Marion was discussed with President Coolidge by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, physician to the late president and by Charles G. Dawes, close friend of Mr. Harding. They discussed with Coolidge plans for launching a nation-wide campaign to give everyone who desires it an opportunity to have a part in erecting the Harding memorial.

MARKET REVIEW

San Francisco, Sept. 15, 1923

Demand for nearly all grain in the local markets during the past week was light. Country buyers appeared supplied and the foreign markets slackened off. Prices in general were, however, rather uncertain.

The spot barley market was very inactive. Prices on the ordinary grades of shipping barley weakened and at the close was worth little more than No. 1 feed. For this later was asked $1.47 @ $1.50, but buyers at these prices were scarce. Choice types of barley were in demand, but as few lots were offered, trading was negligible. These special types were worth from $1.65 @ 1.67½. The future market showed signs of strength, however, and December barley sold as high as $1.46. A few sales of May barley at $1.50 were also transacted.

The demand for wheat remained fairly constant and prices hardened accordingly. Clean grades of feed wheat were worth from $1.95 @ 1.97½ and milling grades from $1.92½ to $1.97½. Offerings were not large and nearly everything changed hands.

The demand for oats increased in volume. This commodity also strengthened in value, but before the close of the week a disturbing factor was the offering of a fairly large quantity of Northern White oats at prices considerably below those of the California red variety. No. 2 yellow corn in bulk was offered at $1.95 and a small amount of California white corn was also offered at the same figure. A small amount of milo maize for September shipment was offered, but as prices were considerably higher than wheat, buyers refused to contract for any. Millfeed prices remained practically unchanged, with offerings light and the demand unsteady.

Dairy Products

Butter—The closing tone of the market this week was firm, and, although there was an effort on the part of some dealers for lower prices, 92-score closed ½c higher than last Saturday. Receipts and supplies of top grades were light, and other scores showed no great surplus. The out of storage movement was heavy. Receipts, 60,900 pounds.

Cheese—The market held steady all week, with the closing price of California fancy flats ½c higher. Dealers report a light volume of business, but sufficient to keep stocks cleaned up. Receipts, 6,300 pounds.

Eggs—Up until Friday the market was steady to firm, however, sellers desired lower prices and sold freely, resulting in extras closing 1c lower than last Saturday. Cars arrived this week from Oregon, Idaho and Washington. Receipts, 2,079 cases.

Country Produce

There was hardly the usual amount of trading today. The tendency in prices for most grapes was lower, while Zinfandels for juice purposes are selling from $65@75 per ton. The market is rather dull on all juice stocks. Cantaloupes were weaker and poor stock moved with difficulty.

There was a very heavy supply of bell peppers on the market, and considerable stock will probably be held over for next week's trading. Lima beans were moving slowly at slightly lower prices. Good lettuce sold at $1@1.25 per crate. Tomatoes continue weak.

Poultry prices were unchanged today.

KING ALFONSO JOINS HANDS WITH REBELS

Patriotic Revolutions by Troops Against Spanish Cabinet a Complete Success and General Riviera Made Dictator.

Madrid.—King Alfonso of Spain joined hands with the rebel leader, Capt. Gen. Primo Riviera, whose dramatic "patriotic revolution" is now a complete success. As martial law was declared throughout Spain, Riviera hurriedly left Barcelona by airplane, speeding to Madrid in answer ot the king's summons to form a new cabinet.

Taking over the reins of authority, the rebel chief formed an interim government composed of his own officers, who will, in turn, begin the selection of a permanent government of civilians.

Program of Rebels

1. A vigorous campaign against the Moorish rebels in Morocco.
2. Suppression of communism and separatism.
3. Satisfaction of the legitimate demands of Catalonia, Galicia and Biscaya, but with preservation of the national unity.

The revolutionists, it was indicated, will not tolerate separation of Catalonia from the Spanish state, and will stand firm in their loyalty to the king and the monarchy.

Madrid.—The captain general of Barcelona is heading the rebellious army force that has for its object the ousting of the Spanish cabinet. Martial law has been proclaimed by the Barcelona leaders and communications seized. The rebels have urged army units in other parts of the country to join the movement.

Apparently the movement had been carefully thought out and organized. Leaders declare that they are inspired by patriotic motives, and emphasize that their movement is not directed against the king. They have not organized any political revolutionary government, but are leading the movement in their capacity as military officers in order to demonstrate that they are guided by disinterested patriotism. The military garrisons in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville have joined the anti-government coup of the garrison in Barcelona.

The sixty-ninth annual state fair was unquestionably the most complete fair of its kind ever held in California, presenting more in the way of educational and instructive exhibits and entertainment of a high class. Included in the general expression of enthusiasm over the fair was a promise of better things to come next year, with all members of the State Fair Exhibitors' association and the directors of the fair acting in accord for general improvements which are needed to provide more comforts for both the exhibitors and the attending public.

Slaughter of 5,500 head of cattle back in the Sierras, thirty miles from Cascade, is one of the final moves in the preparation of winter food supplies for an army of 2,000 men who next month will be snowed in for seven months. The total crews aggregated 4,800 men, and 450,000 meals are served. These men are in four camps of the Edison Big Creek-San Joaquin Power project drilling out a thirteen-mile tunnel through solid granite from what will be known as Florence Lake Reservoir to Huntington Lake.

MOTHER SCHOLZ TRULY SURPRISED

Mothers, as a rule, are just a bit too clever to be caught napping, but once in a while her attention is attracted elsewhere for the coupe. Rarely is a mother wise as to her children's antics for thirty-two years thus avoiding the well laid plans of maids and men, but such was the case. Mrs. "Ma" Scholz passed another mile post in her useful life's journey September 11 and this furnished the occasion and it was a really genuine surprise with all the trimmings.

When the clan had gathered to do mother honor, there were, Frank Scholz and wife, Carl and wife, Lee Hutchins and family, A. E. Brydon and family, V. W. Straub and family, Robert and Anna, all wishing her the best in the world.

C. U. H. S. will open Monday the 24th, and every student who plans to attend is urged to be present that morning to facilitate arrangement of classes and obviate delays in work.

STATE CORPORATION TAX INCREASE FOUR MILLION

The corporation tax this year has increased some $4,000,000 in money.

Under the King tax act, which is a constitutional amendment, and hence beyond the power of the Governor or the Legislature, or both, to change, the banks and public service corporations pay a specific percentage tax on their gross revenue. As the percentage is based on gross revenue, the actual amount of money paid into the treasury has increased with the increase of business.

They cannot be changed without a constitutional amendment, approved by the people. No suggestion was made by anybody in the Legislature to increase the rates of the King tax act. The statement that an economy program in any way operates to reduce corporation taxes is not true. If no money were paid out of the treasury at all, the corporation taxes would automatically be paid in, in increasing amounts as their gross business should grow.— Stockton Independent.

Coolidge to Help Dedicate

Washington.—President Coolidge will send a message to be read at the dedication of the Zero milestone in San Diego, Cal., marking the western terminus of the Lee highway. The milestone was to have been dedicated originally by the late President Harding on August 6, when he had planned to be in San Diego.

An opinion handed down in the Third District Court of Appeals ruled that county prohibition ordinances which provide the same punishment for an offense as is provided under the Wright act conflict with the state law, and the provisions constituting a duplication are void.

The "House of David" baseball team, famous because its members never cut their hair, due to their religious beliefs, is coming to California from Benton Harbor, Mich. The team will tour the state from October 13 to November 15, and wants a series of games.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. met on Wednesday, September 12, with Mrs. Whitman, the president, Mrs. Wilson, presiding. Devotionals led by Mrs. Ella Kennedy. The Declaration of Principles waa read responsively, followed by roll-call of scripture quotations.

The urgent need of further provisions for the annual budget plan was presented. State leaders have adopted the budget system, since they need to plan for the work with an increased income. In the words of President Harding "It puts heart, purpose and control into the administration of affairs." After discussion, it was decided to hold a food sale on Saturday, September 15. Further business was disposed of, the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Lucy McClintic, was introduced and spoke for thirty minutes upon matters relating to law enforcement. Among other pertinent points, the speaker urged all to keep everlastingly at the duty of citizenship and also to report to the county officers the true state of local affairs, with out growing discouraged or impatient. Mrs. Wilson read a very interesting and heart-gripping paper prepared at request of the union, by Mrs. O. A. Putnam, describing a visit to Palo Alto Base Hospital. Mrs. Putnam went to the hospital with Mrs. Vaudine Putnam Saunders when she took her little tots for a recital, accompanied by a fine San Jose orchestra. The entertainment was deeply appreciated by the men. There were many pitiful cases among the shell-shocked, gassed and tubercular patients, even where reason had not been dethroned as was the case of some. Mrs. Putnam made strong pleas in behalf of permanent peace for our country and all countries.

Mrs. Whitman had been requested to read a paper at this meeting that she had given at the recent Congress of Reforms, which paper closed the program f the afternoon, when a social hour was enjoyed by those present.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Wilson at which time all superintendents are requested to give their annual reports. Delegates to the annual state convention at Stockton are to be elected by Campbell Union at that time.

"This will keep the State's battery of school presses humming night and day, and will work the bindery to its fullest capacity," Smith declared. "The plant will be entirely installed in its new building by September 15th, and it will operate with a full crew for the next eighteen months on school books."

Notice—The formal opening of the library building which was set in the club program for September 24, has been reset for Thursday, October4, afternoon and evening. Delay in the arrival of materials for the social and rest rooms, and furniture for the library has necessitated the change to a later date. Helpers are greatly needed to work on draperies, staining chairs, washing dishes and many other "finishing" touches.

CAMPBELL CLUB ENJOYS TRIP STORY

The club season for Campbell was opened Monday when the Coutry Woman's Club met at the new library. This was truly an event in the history of this organization whose aim and plans for years have centered about this dream which has almost reached complete materialization.

As a little token of esteem and appreciation to the founders of the Club and its faithful supporters during all of its history, the president, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, on behalf of the members, presented the three charter members still belonging, Mrs. E. I. Price, Mrs. Lillie F. Shaw, and Mrs. Ellen R. Smith, with bouquets.

There was a great deal of necessary business to transact in taking up the care and upkeep of the new building. This will require much more attention and expense and numerous committees were appointed to look after the various rooms and their equipment, to plan ways and means for defraying expenses.

One of the subjects discussed was the filling in of the grounds before anything in the way of lawn or shrubbery can be provided and a scheme was presented which may later be laid before the public, by which every one almost, can help.

The program was in charge of Mrs. E. I. Price, who was to give a report of her trip around the world. It was certainly a delightful narrative, given in Mrs. Price's inimitable way, with characteristic touches of humor that gave just the piquant flavor needed.

It would be a pleasure to be able to give in detail the story of her travels but we can only mention the points touched upon with a few brief notes.

Mrs. Price sailed from San Francisco, via the Panama canal to New York where she was to join the tourist party. On this part of the journey there were all kinds of people and of nationalities as fellow passengers, and the boat touched at several points in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Florida peninsula. The Atlantic voyage was quite stormy, with daily squalls. The island of Madiera was partly explored and then for contrast—Gibraltar, Algiers, then Naples and Vesuvius, and on to Egypt. The pyramids and Sphinx with other interesting points were visited and the boat was boarded again for the passage f the Suez Canal. Mention was made of the great difference in the two canals, the American and the Asiatic.

The narrative was interrupted while the listeners were getting the delights of India owing to the closing hour.

However all were quite of a mind that the concluding chapters must be given at another time.

Mrs. Price exhibited purchases which she had made in most of the "ports of call" which were very interesting and beautiful.

A NEW ANGLE

During the recent campaign and election of Magnus Johnson as U. S. Senator in Minnesota, the public gained the impression that he is a radical. But Magnus Johnson is undoubtedly a different type of a man than the professional politician of the accepted radical type.

He is a hard worker, has raised a large family and his wife and children are his assistants in running the farm. A man who owns land, farms it himself, earns his money from the soil and wears real working clothes covered with dirt and grease accumulated during manly toil, must have good stuff in him.

Whether Johnson is a "destructive radical" remans to be seen. A "constructive" radical can exercise a far wider influence than a "hard boiled conservative."

A New York paper recently contained the following article. If the quotation is correct, Johnson has sounded a wise keynote and shown himself a student above the average:

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 4.—More charity between man and man and teaching of more consideration in schools, coupled with a "greater love" in churches, is the means which will equip the United States to withstand the onsloughts of radicalism, Senator-elect Johnson Magnus Johnson told celebrants at Freenborn County community picnic today.

Mr. Johnson paid a tribute to the dead President Harding before discussing economic problems. Good-fellowship and service among business and professional men and the farmer are the keynote of his talk.

"The press of the country has wronged me," said Mr. Johnson. The papers say I am profane—'I am rough and care naught for books.' This is untrue. I have access to a wonderful library. I love books. I have read until my eyes are greatly impaired.

"I am sorry that the papers of the country, by their untruthful propaganda, are causing the people to lose confidence in what they have to say. The press should be truthful. The people are entitled to know the truth.

"If this country is to prosper and to withstand the onsloughts of radicalism we must show more love in the churches, teach more consideration in our schools and show more charity between man and man."

MUST WORK TOGETHER

No town can grow as it should unless its people work together in its upbuilding. The history of every city that has rapid and substantial growth will show that united and enthusiastic work of its people had the greatest part in making it grow. In towns where a few live men boost and work for the town's upbuilding and many are indifferent and do nothing, the work of city building is exceedingly difficult and the results slow in coming. If all boost and help to build up the town it is an easy matter to make the town push forward.

THE RIGHT NOTE

President Coolidge, after a formal press conference, asks the correspondents to put "a word of gladness and hope" into the stories they write os the result of the conference.

For the Presient of a nation that is prosperous, orderly and ambitious and at peace with the world this is the right note to sound. Mr. Coolidge is wise to invite the newspapermen into a benevolent conspiracy to make optimism contagious and fashionable in America.

AIRCRAFT LIMITATION

The American Legion proposes an international conference for the limitation of aircraft. The project is feasible, and its success rests solely with the willingness of foreign governments to take another practical step toward world peace. The late President Harding set the pace with his naval limitation conference, and there is no reason why his principles should not be applied to other branches of the military service.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shelly left yesterday for a vacation at Pacific Grove and neighboring points of interest. They expect to be gone a week or ten days.

Word has been received telling of the recent death of Mrs. Whitmore, many years a resident of Campbell, owning the property now occupied by the Hyde kindergarten.

F. H. Cutting and family moved from Pacific Grove last week and will again be numbered among the Campbellites. Douglas Cutting will attend College of Pacific this year.

As an evidence of our wide-awake business men, Mr. A. T. Davey, "Model" proprietor, got the bid on new chairs for the high school and incidentally saved the district about $40.

Relatives of the A. E. Bargas and Geo. Schuyler families are among the homeless ones in Berkeley. Without doubt numbers of our readers have relatives who suffered losses in that disastrous fire.

Mr. Will Smith and daughter Alice, formerly of Pike, N. Y., now of San Francisco, visited their old friends the F. S. Newcomb and Will Skiff families over Sunday and a pleasant time was spent talking over old acquaintances.

Miss Dorothy Collins, student at U. C., was among the unfortunates whose abiding places were burned but the Misses Harriet Dunphy and Ruth Metzter, who are taking post graduate work, are not living in the fire zone.

The Thaddeus Joy family, who lost their home at Berkeley have come dwn to Campbell and are with Mrs. Joy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ross, of McCoy Avenue. Coupled with the loss of their home was the theft of their auto during the excitement and confusion.

Gerge Benner writes that he is very pleasantly located in Pomona, where he has charge of the Physical Education in the Junior High School. One of his classmates at San Jose Teachers College has similar work in another school in the same city which makes it very nice.

Mr. Roy C. Harp, a chum of Gilbert Newcomb at Corvalis Agricultural College before the war, was down from San Francisco over Sunday to visit his friend. Mr. Harp formerly conducted a newspaper in a small town in Nebraska. In comparing notes they found they were at one time only 15 miles apart in France, though neither knew of the others whereabouts.

COULTER-LLOYD

The announcement of the wedding of Miss Therese L. Coulter and Ernest Fenno Lloyd was quite a surprise to many of their Campbell friends. Ernest Lloyd is the third son of Rev. Wm. H. Lloyd, for several years pastor of the Campbell Methodist church, who, assisted by Rev. Frank Linder of the First Methodist church of San Jose performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd spent their honeymoon at Carmel and are now established in an apartment at 365 East San Fernando St., San Jose.

Herbert Scholz and family are expected the first of the week from the east for a short visit with Mrs. M. Scholz family. Yes, family is right, for little Miss Scholz arrived at her home Aug. 24. Herbert will be here but a few days on account of the press of business. He is located at Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. G. E. Bohnett and son, Ralph, are expected from Aromas today to visit Bohnett relatives for a few days. Ralph will register at College of Pacific entering a week later. Mrs. Bohnett will give Merlin a few final instructions as to housekeeping at Shepherd-Bohnett hall.

Over 72,000 acres of government land and 34,000 acres of private lands within and adjacent federal forest reserves in California have been burned this year.

The Main Point.

Mrs. Wombat had another cook and the first dinner was a sad affair. The potatoes were soggy, the steak was raw and the odor of scorched soup greeted Mr. Wombat as he entered the front door. He knew this signal of yore, but advanced cheerily.

"How's the new cook?" he asked his wife.

Mrs. Wombat put it all into a very brief sentence.

"She can't cook!"

Nothing, however, could dismay the incorrigible optimist.

"Perhaps we can cure that," he said. "The question is—will she stay awhile?"

Order Has Spread.

The Order of De Molay was organized in Kansas City, April 1, 1919, by Frank S. Land, secretary of the social service and employment bureaus at the Scottish Rite temple. Since that time the movement has spread from coast to coast and to several foreign countries. De Molay is an order for young men between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one. It is sponsored by the Masonic lodge. The order is based on the closing events in the life of Jacques de Molay, grand master of the order of Knights Templar, burned at the stake in 1329 by decree of Philip the Fair, king of France.

Prospective Citizens Must Be Made to Love the American Moral Ideals

By DAVID KINLEY, President University of Illinois.

We deplore the fact that many who have come to our shores from other lands to live their lives among us have failed to grasp as fully as we should like, or to love as dearly as we do ourselves, the government and institutions of our country. We have been casting about for ways and means to Americanize them.

I sometimes think that in our discussions of this subject we are confusing the kernel with the husk. Love of country does not arise from mere intellectual knowledge of her institutions or laws. Patriotism is a sentiment, not a reason's conclusion. If we would have the stranger to our system of government be loyal to it, we must teach him not merely to understand it, but love it. We have been placing too much reliance on machinery of organization and too little on sentiment.

What we need to instill into the minds and hearts of our prospective fellow citizens is not simply knowledge of the mere mechanics of our governmental organization, but some notion of what it stands for and what it has cost; of what it means in history and political development, in the promotion of freedom and human welfare.

We must define and hold before them to love the spiritual in American life, the moral ideals that animate our people. We must be able to show them that under our system of government, with all its faults, they will be able to live a better life, to enjoy a greater welfare than they have been accustomed to.

THE GREAT SCOURGE OF HALF TRUTHS

By JOHN OAKWOOD

A soap-boxer pointed at a great factory. "Who built that factory? Workmen!" he yelled. "Who run the machines? Workmen! Who get the profits? Capitalists!"

The soap-boxer told a half truth that amounted to a whole lie. His listeners did not know that that particular factory, typical of thousands of others, was a complete refutation of the lie—if only the other half of the truth were told.

It is true the factory was Capitalized—for a million dollars. The net profits gave annual dividends of 6 per cent, or $60,000, to the stockholders. All that was true.

But it was also true that the million dollar capital was divided up into ten thousand shares of $100 each. The ownership of these shares was distributed among about one thousand people. Several hundred of them were workmen in the factory. They were saving out of their weekly wages and buying shares on the instalment plan. They were Capitalists.

It was likewise true that shares were also owned by workmen in other factories, by clerical workers and by small merchants. A good many were also owned by widows and orphans whose modest estates had been wisely invested for them by their bankers. They were Capitalists.

It was also true that the factory corporation had issued a million dollars in bonds to raise funds to buy the material and pay the wages of workmen to build the factory. These bonds were owned as investments not only by persons of wealth but also by many people of moderate means who had saved out of their wages and salaries. They were Capitalists.

And it was also true that out of the receipts of the factory, before a cent was taken to pay interest on the bonds, before a penny was used to pay dividends on the stock, a good many dollars were taken to pay wages to the workmen.

RECALL EVENTS OF HISTORY

Documents Presented to Massachusetts Historical Society Are of the Highest Interest.

One of the important gifts to the Massachusetts Historical society with associations of the anti-slavery period of the last century is from Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, says the Boston Transcript. It is a large volume containing letters, posters, clippings and other pieces relating to the famous case of George Latimer, the first fugitive slave seized in Boston, October 21, 1842. With these is a complete file of the Latimer Journal and North Star, in seven numbers, published between November 11, 1842, and May 16, 1843, and edited by Bowditch's father, Dr. Henry Ingersoll Bowditch, and William Francis Channing and Frederick S. Cabot.

The seizure caused great excitement in Boston, and steps were immediately taken to defend Latimer. The editors say at the outset that its great object will be "to give utterance to the alarm and indignation of Massachusetts at the encroachment of slavery on her soil."

The letter which Latimer, on October 22, 1842, sent to the Boston ministers asking that prayers for his release might be offered on the following Sunday, was recently given to the society by Grenville H. Norcross, and is now with this collection. It is in the handwriting of Samuel E. Sewall, and the signature of Latimer (by his mark) is witnessed by him.

LEGEND OF CYPRESS TREE

Mythology Has Many Interesting Stories Concerning It—May Have Been Used at Crucifixion.

The story mythology tells of the cypress tree is that Cyparissus, son of Telephus, while hunting one day accidentally killed one of Apollo's favorite stags. He became so filled with remorse at the mishap that he begged Apollo, his dearest friend, to put him out of his misery. The god compassionately metamorphosed him into a tree; hence its name. Its floral meanings are despair, mourning, or sorrow.

Cypress wood was used in the construction of St. Peter's gates at Rome. After eleven hundred years' use they were taken down, comparatively new, to be replaced by brass.

Cypress was said by some to have been the wood the cross was made from, while many refer to the material as hewn from oak; but the aspen is the more generally accepted as the wood used for the cross of the crucifixion.

DEVICE TO PREVENT THEFT

License Number and Make of Car Cannot Be Changed Without Attracting Attention.

The Scientific American illustrates and describes an automobile attachment, invented by P. J. Ridenour of Silver City, N. M., as follows:

The object of this invention is to provide for automobiles an attachment that will show to the public and police the make of the car and the license number of the same, both being interrelated in such a manner that neither can be changed without breaking or affecting the other, and being so connected with the parking and tail lights that the removal of the device will turn out both lights, thereby attracting the attention of the police.

Community Building

IMPROVING LOOKS OF CITY

Something Can Be Done in That Direction in Practically Every American Community.

Every indication that American communities are becoming interested in the beautification of their environment is encouraging. Recently we referred to the proposal for an art commission for Grand Rapids, Mich., and we now note the appeal of the Des Moines Capital for the restoration of the "beauty dam" in that city. A town-planning commission makes the proposal, which is intended to protect the water level of the river, which in the low water season shows "an unsightly array of sand bars and stagnant pools."

Our western American towns and cities have grown up chiefly under economic influences, and while many have features of beauty, these are usually almost accidental. If we take a little trouble we can make our towns much more attractive to the eye and thus provide for ourselves and our children a daily pleasure beyond price. There is no reason why our communities, which are now well-to-do, intelligent, and ambitious of progress in the higher things of life as well as in material things, should not greatly improve their architecture, their public monuments, their natural features, parks, streets, and places of recreation. It is well worth while. When you hear of the Grand Rapids art commission or the Des Moines town planning commission you have a new interest and a new respect for these enterprising and prosperous centers of real American life.—Chicago Tribune.

PUT THE BEST INTO HOUSE

No Money Saved in the End by Using Poor Materials—Immense Damage Caused by Rust.

The small home builder has learned a lesson, and that is that poor planning and construction is much more expensive than good architecture and indifferent building. The demand for better home building is spreading, with the consequence that flimsy work will eventually be condemned by all home buyers.

"There is a clearly defined movement back to the substantial and enduring and away from the flimsy type of construction which has been a noticeable feature of much of our construction, particularly in moderate-cost homes, in the last decade," says W. A. Willis of the Copper and Brass association of the United States.

"The costly results which follow the erection of the type of house that is built merely to sell and not to live in is perhaps no better illustrated than by the amazing fact that home owners in this country spend more than $650,000,000 every year in repairing and renewing rusted metal work in and on their dwellings. The significance of this loss is apparent from the fact that it is greater than the fire loss in residence structures. In all save danger to life rust is vastly more destructive and costly than fire, the more dangerous because rust works so insidiously."

Rules for Better Cities.

Believing that an era of better cities is at hand if citizens and traffic authorities will give study to the question, Charles Clifton, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, makes six recommendations for city planning. He has sent his views to traffic authorities in several large cities asking for comment and criticism.

Mr. Clifton suggests as a means of improving traffic congestion and hazards in cities:

(1) More playgrounds.
(2) Stricter regulations and more scientific study of safety provisions.
(3) New boulevards.
(4) Detours for through traffic.
(5) Parking spaces in basements of office buildings.

Unusually Rugged and Capable of Withstanding Abuses and Requires Little Air.

The Scientific American in illustrating and describing an inner tube for pneumatic tires, the invention of R. Nall of Oakland, Cal., says:

The invention relates in general to pneumatic tires as used on vehicles or automobiles. The primary object of the invention is to overcome the many disadvantages of the customary inner tube by providing a tube which will be unusually rugged and capable of withstanding abuses, and at the same time require only a moderate air pressure to supply the desired supporting medium.
